

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases. Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as to without fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Free, Buffalo, N. Y.

BUILDING NEW ADDITION

C. A. Reeve Begins Erection of Forty two Foot Room for Use of the Republican Plant.

Mr Reeve began Thursday the erection of a new 42-foot addition to his building on north Michigan street, occupied by the Republican office. The addition will reach back nearly to the alley, the remaining space being taken up by a platform. The room will be one story high and have a skylight in top for the lighting of the Republican shop by which it will be occupied as soon as completed. This addition has been much needed by the Republican shop and will enable the installation of machinery and a proper arrangement of the shop heretofore impossible because of a lack of room.

Gas Range Demonstration

The last demonstration was given by Mrs. Hoar on March 22 at the Gas office and was very well attended.
Four demonstrations in all were given during March and a total of 300 ladies enjoyed the demonstrations, and were much benefited by many helpful hints on gas range economy and efficiency given by Mrs. Hoar.
Yesterday the gas range which has been used in the demonstrations was raffled off as advertised and was won by Mrs. Christian Fisher. L. J. Hess of the Marshall County Savings Bank played the part of "Raffles."
It might be interesting to note that the company installed a meter to register the gas used in the demonstrations, and the meter showed that 25 cents worth of gas was used in the series of four demonstrations. This included preparation of the food before the demonstrations, the cooking during the demonstrations and the heating water for dish washing before and after the demonstrations. When the 300 ladies has tasted the food, there was enough of the crumbs and fragments left for 25 full meals. It was truly a demonstration of gas range and efficiency.

U. B. Church News.

The Adult class has been reorganized according to the State Sunday School Association plan and numbers about thirty members. Mr. Paul Hintz is President; Forest Wilburn, Vice-President; Wm. Hahn, Secretary; Mrs. Ren Vangilder, Treasurer; Geo. Baxter, Ernest Shriar and Mrs. Orval Leslie a committee. Mrs. Leslie, being the chairman. The class is in good working order.
Sunday morning, March 12, was a very interesting service. Four were baptized and three received in the Church Fellowship.
The Rev. J. L. Gushert of Warsaw will be with us and fill the pulpit next Sunday evening. His subject will be the "Bible and its influence." Rev. Gushert has been our pastor at Frankfort for some time past and is an able speaker. Do not fail to hear him.

RUAMA SULT WINS IN THE PRELIMINARY

CLOSE CONTEST WITNESSED BY LARGE CROWD AT THE WEBSTER AUDITORIUM FRIDAY NIGHT

ALL WERE EXCELLENT

Much Interest Shown in Local Oratorical and Musical Test Among High School Pupils of City.

Ruama Sult will represent Plymouth High School at the Oratorical Contest to be held in Bourbon, April 7. This was decided by a Preliminary Contest held at the Webster School Auditorium last night and witnessed by a capacity house of enthusiastic listeners.
The program was of high merit throughout and entirely free from such crudities as one might expect from boys and girls of thatage. Judging our schools by their fruits, they must be nearly up to the college of a generation ago. These young people showed the skill and east of those who had experience on the platform and training in thinking and will not furnish the "green Freshman" which the High School is supposed to hand over to the College.

The music of the evening was finished and artistic. In connection with the Oratorical contest it has been decided to have a vocal musical contest in which a quartet from each High School will compete.

The High School Orchestra, which furnished four excellent numbers during the evening was composed of Rose Holtzhauser, Pianist, Arno Culison, Roland Metersker, Chester Gast, Gerald Overmyer, Delpha Zumbach, Ford Cressner, Roscoe Lee, and Ralph Ball.

Supt. Randall, in introducing the program, said that it took great courage to enter the Oratorical Contest this year, since the three contests so far have been won by Plymouth and it remains for the winner in this preliminary contest to maintain that high standard.

Earl Stoneburner, has chosen for his subject, "Saragoza." He had, perhaps, the best orotund voice of any speaker, being larger and more heavy weight in build than the rest, who were more slender with voices of the same quality. His manner was calm and he possessed many of the attributes which go to make a good public speaker. He was unfortunate in his subject, which being so far back in history and a settled one, did not make the appeal to his audience that a more live one would have made.

Mr. Stoneburner said that centuries had led up to Saragoza. Time was when peoples in many climes bowed to the yoke of tyranny. Little by little emotions of freedom began to stir in men's breasts. There arose from the north a nation of Anglo-Saxons who refused to submit. They voiced their sentiments in the Magna Charta and in many such documents down to the Declaration of Independence. England thought to quell her disorderly subjects with one fell blow. Then followed the story of Saragoza and of the foiling of English domination.

Maud Marks entered into her oration with a voice and manner strong and free, in keeping with her subject "The Pioneer of the North-west." She said that the men who crossed the plains, Indian fighters, explorers and first settlers, were more typical Americans than those of the East where foreign influence held greater sway. The wide prairies which hid mountains, dense forests, which hid not only wild beasts but hostile Indians, fertile valleys, and treasures stored beneath the soil appealed to their romance, stimulated their fancies, and called for the exercise of their indomitable courage and difficult labors. They knew the hardships and cared them. They developed here that pre-eminently American trait, "inventiveness." It was their resourcefulness which kept them alive in the new country. They were brave men such as the earth had never seen. She closed with a special tribute to Daniel Boone and an appeal that when we remember our nation's heroes we do not forget the Pioneers of the great North-west.

Henry Humrichouser, in an oration on "The Public Conscience," showed a great knowledge of politics and history. He was handicapped by a voice which was not strong but in spite of this awarded a close second place showing the excellence of his thought and manner.

He began with the quotation from Winston Churchill, that a public conscience, when once contracted, might prove as troublesome as the croup and added that the American people were at present struggling with a bad case of croup. He told of the great things the Interstate Commerce Commission had done for our people in cutting out graft, and added, "if a Tariff Commission would do as much, let us have it." He spoke a good word for the Parcells Post, saying the express business was in the hands of a great monopoly. We have railroad senators and express senators, when will we have senators to serve the people?"

Roland Metersker took for his subject was excellent, but his manner a trifle timid, and restrained him from throwing himself into his subject "The Lincoln Way." His have captured for him higher honors. The "Lincoln Way" is the highway which leads from the place in Kentucky where Lincoln was born through Indiana, to his later home in Springfield, Ill. As this way led through forest and swampland it represented courage and resolution. Each person who stands for righteous ideals and higher civilization must pass "the Lincoln way."

Ruama Sult, who was awarded first place by the judges had chosen for her subject the timely one "Child Labor." Her recital of the sorrows and cruelties endured by the victims of "child slavery" were followed by the most sympathetic attention of her hearers who were deeply stirred by the mental pictures she portrayed of those little ones in apression which in America would be 1,136 miles long if all marched before us single file. She pictured the laborers as aged-looking and worn, ill discouraged, dull, crippled, and polluted morally by the conditions under which they were compelled to live. She made them and their lives so vivid that each listener could not but feel as she said, "Child labor is our greatest American evil. It must; it shall be stopped." Miss Sult had thrown her whole soul into her oration with the result that she captured the coveted honor and will represent Plymouth High School in the county contest.

The Judges, Mr. Adam Wise, Rev. Fraley, of Plymouth, and Supt. Kline of Wanatah, had no easy task. All the contestants did excellently and Plymouth has reason to be proud of each.

The vocal music of the evening afforded the audience great pleasure. The solo by Miss Blanche McCoy, "Kathleen," by Bartlett, was very fine. Miss McCoy's tones were, as usual, full and mellow, and her performance marked with the ease and grace of the expert.

Miss Fern Snoberger surprised those who had never heard her sing, by the exquisite sweetness and delicacy with which she rendered "If I were a Rose" and the encore, "I love You Truly."

The Ladies Quartet was composed of the Misses Helen and Olga Tomlinson, Claudia Moore, and Erma Sanner. They sang "The Sparrows' Twitters." Two ladies quartettes are in training in the High school at present so that if a member of one should be unable to take her part the other quartet could go. It is the plan, to send this quartet into the contest at Bourbon if all goes well, and we feel perfect confidence that they will do us credit.

Decision of Judges

Pleasant Greetings.
The Northern Indiana District Great Council of the Improved Order of Red Men in session at South Bend Tuesday and Wednesday, sent through it's Great Chief of Records, Otto Wolf, telegraph "greetings and best wishes for many happy days" to Daniel McDonald, Plymouth, who is the oldest living Past Great Sachem of Indiana. He is also the first Sachem and is still a member of, and the oldest Past Sachem of Pottawat- tomie Tribe No. 16 Improved Order Red Men at Bourbon, which office he held at the time he was Great Sachem of the State.

Mr. McDonald is also the oldest living Past Master of Plymouth Masonic Lodge, and also the oldest living Past Grand Master of the Grand Masonic Lodge of Indiana. He says it is one of the mysteries of life that he has been so long preserved while so many associates occupying previously the same positions have passed away to the Great Beyond.

ARE BUILDING LARGE ADDITION

B. E. LINKENHELT & CO. ARE MAKING BASEMENT AND ALSO SIXTY FEET MORE TO WAREHOUSE FOR BIG BUSINESS.

B. E. Linkenbelt & Co. have begun to make some extensive improvements and additions to their wholesale grocery house on west Garro street. 60-foot addition will be made at the rear of the present warehouse, and under this a basement.

Mr. Linkenbelt started in the little frame building at the corner of Michigan and Sophia streets a few years ago, but the business grew so that he soon had to vacate that place. A lot was purchased on west Garro at the present location and one story building erected. An addition soon had to be made to the original 50-foot building and this further extension makes a total of 105 feet with a basement under 55 feet at the rear. Contractor Will Wallace has the job.

Lorimer Remains.

And the Senate of the United exercising its prerogative as the sole judge of the character of its own membership, voted to retain Lorimer in his seat. The vote was 46 to 40 yet there were 42 Senators who were election was brought about corruptly. And of those Senators who by their votes condoned this manner of election, ten are of the "old guard," discredited by their own constituents and repudiated by the whole country whose vote on this question was almost the last stroke of service they were permitted to perform for the System before stepping down and out on March 4.

Lorimer holds his seat. But the bipartisan majority that kept him there is passing out of control. The Big Business Machine is ready for the scrap heap. And in its place there is going to be a People's Control of the Senate. The action of the United States Senate on the Lorimer case, even more than the corruption disclosed in the election that sent him to Washington, has electrified the people of this country to action. Direct election of Senators is very near.—LaFollette's Magazine.

Tuberculosis in Indiana.

The Monthly Bulletin for January 1911 issued by the Indiana State Board of Health contains the following interesting information concerning the White Plague in Indiana:

During the month of January 1911 389 of our people died from this dread disease; of these 180 were men and 209 women.

Three hundred and seventy-one homes were invaded and one hundred ninety four orphans under twelve years of age left without parental protection.
